VOL. 1. NO. 186. PRICE FIVE CENTS

ABOUT 200 DELEGATES

HERE TO ATTEND MISSOURI RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION CONVENTION.

EXPECTS FULLY 300 BY TOMORROW

Mayor Collins and Mr. C. C. Lawson Welcome Delegates, and Response Made By Ira L. Daley, of St. Joseph.

The eighth annual convention of the Missouri Retail Merchants was called to order in the court house this morning at 10:30 o'clock by President Phelps, of Joplin, there being nearly 200 delegates from all parts of the state in attendance. Before the session tomorrow morning it is expected that close to 300 will be present, which will make it the largest convention held since the association was organized.

All classes of retail merchants throughout Missouri were represented, though the majority are men engaged in the grocery and butcher business. Most of the larger towns in the state are represented, with St. Louis and St. Joseph having the largest number of delegates present.

Much interest is being shown in the selection of the next president, there being three active candidates in the field already—Henry Phelps, of Joplin, the present incumbent; W. W. Smith, of Springfield, and R. R. McIntyre, of Hannibal.

After the invocation this morning by Rev. G. H. Ayers, the visiting delegates were welcomed by Mayor Collins, who tendered them the keys to the city, telling them that he was sure that they would not abuse the confidence of the Sedalia merchants in turning the freedom of the city over to them, at the same time assuring them of the most cordial welcome and promising them a good time while within the gates of the city.

Ira L. Daley, of St. Joseph, referred to as the "Spotless Grocer," replied to Mayor Collins, admitting that the keys of different cities had become somewhat worn by handling at previous conventions, but he assured Mayor Collins that they would be returned in good order, with the thanks of the delegates for the hearty welcome which had been extended.

"We want the convention to be a credit to the city as much as you want the city to show credit to the convention," said Mr. Daley, "and the hearty greetings you give us make it certain that we will enjoy our stay while with you."

Mr. Daley then went into the history of the organization, stating that it is really just in its infancy, the past year showing the greatest growth of any similar period, the membership having more than doubled during the past few months.

C. C. Lawson, secretary of the Sedalia organization, also welcomed the delegates in a humorous vein, bringing forth a legal brief of 763 pages, which he stated was the address of President Letts, which he would spare the convention from listening to. Several humorous stories by Mr. Lawson served to put the audience in an excellent humor and paved the way for the more serious work of the convention.

After the appointment of committee on credentials, resolutions and auditing, the convention listened to the report of Secretary F. G. Chinn, of Jefferson City, showing the progress of the organization during the past year. Thirty-four new towns and cities have been added to the state organization, Mr. Chinn reported, making the organization at present representing sixty towns and cities throughout the state.

The financial report showed the association to be in good condition, there being a balance in the treasury of $100.52 after expenditures during the past year amounting to $1016.90. The report also went into detail as to the work done by the organization in the past year, suggesting that plans be formulated for the carrying on of a more active campaign in the future.

Just previous to adjournment there was a spirited discussion as to the number of votes each association would be entitled to, some claiming that each city is entitled to as many votes as it pays per capita assessment on, which contention was ruled to be not in accordance with the constitution as amended last year at Jefferson City.

The argument between St. Louis delegates, who were in favor of allowing a vote for proxies, and St. Joseph, which opposed the plan, became heated at times before the presiding officer ruled against the St. Louisans. This afternoon the convention listened to an address by Hon. E. E. Johnston, of Sedalia, and the annual report of President Phelps, as well as to the committee on credentials.

Several resolutions concerning the retail trade were introduced and referred to the committee, to be acted on later in the convention.

This evening the visitors will be entertained at the Elks' hall with a musical program, which promises to be a most interesting affair.

TAKES 35 MINUTES NOW

FOR A MISSOURI PACIFIC PASSENGER TRAIN TO PASS THROUGH CITY.

THE 6-MILES-AN-HOUR ORDINANCE

Not Possible, Company Officials Say, to Make Up Lost Time—No Shuttle Trains to the Fair Grounds.

"Including the five minutes stop at the depot, it requires exactly thirty-five minutes for a passenger train to get in and out of Sedalia now," said a Missouri Pacific official to a Democrat-Sentinel representative today.

"Running six miles an hour requires ten minutes to go one mile, and from the time a train shows up at the eastern limits of the city until it has disappeared in the western—its thirty-five minutes are lost and there is absolutely no way on earth to make up that lost time between here and Kansas City."

"Well, why don't you call the councilmen's attention to it?" inquired the reporter.

"I did, but what satisfaction do we get. Our trains are running late, and engineers prefer to do that rather than pay a fine of from $25 to $100."

A Katy official remarked this morning: "Unless the city council either repeals the ordinance or parts of the ordinance limiting the speed of trains through Sedalia to six miles an hour the city will be up a stump in regard to conveying visitors to the fair grounds during the coming state fair."

"We cannot and will not attempt to run shuttle trains this year at the rate of six miles an hour. It would be absurd to think of doing such a thing. If the council wishes to show its authority in this matter then let the members of the council begin planning a way to get the visitors to the fair grounds."

"We are only too glad to stop whistling in the city, but when we are compelled to lose thirty minutes or more in getting in and out of Sedalia, that's heaping too much on us and the higher officials of the company will soon find a way to rebuke the insult."

From a reliable source it was learned this afternoon that the city council at the next regular meeting will rescind a certain portion of the ordinance recently passed that limits the speed of trains through the city to six miles an hour, so as to permit the engineers to run not more than ten or twelve miles an hour through the city.

THE SAILORS DROWNED

One Rocked the Boat and It Capsize With Fatal Results.

New York, July 9.—Three members of the crew of the steam yacht Yacona belonging to Henry Clay Pierce, of St. Louis, were drowned in the Hudson river early today, when a small yawl carrying six of the Yacona's crew and a dockman, was capsized by a sailor who rocked the boat. The four survivors of the party were picked up by a passing tug.

A DIVINE WENT WRONG

HE INVADDED THE BEDROOM OF A MAIDEN FAIR AT ALTOONA, PA.

LANDLORD AT ONCE EJECTED BOTH

Minister Resigned and Talked of Suicide. While the Girl Was Bitterly Humiliated by Conduct.

Altoona, Pa., July 9.—The pulpit of the Second United Brethren church, one of the most prominent congregations in the city, was unoccupied Sunday, and Rev. William N. Deller, the pastor, was missing from the parsonage.

Inquiry developed the fact that Mr. Deller had tendered his resignation to the board of trustees Friday night, and had left the city Saturday evening, taking his family with him.

Back of the resignation is a scandal that has stirred the town of Martinsburg, this county, and shocked the Second United Brethren congregation.

Ten days ago the Christian Endeavor societies of Blair county held a two days' rally at Martinsburg. Mr. Deller was a delegate and the principal speaker.

On Thursday afternoon of that week a girl, 19 years old, registered at the Hagey house, Martinsburg, as Miss Margaret Guilford, this being an assumed name. Later in the evening Mr. Deller also registered at the hotel.

Samuel Mayne, proprietor of the Hagey house, makes this statement: "Shortly after midnight a servant informed my wife that Rev. Mr. Deller had gone to Miss Guilford's room, I went to the room and demanded entrance. This being denied, I threatened to batter down the door when it was opened. I ordered them from the hotel, in spite of their pleadings. They got a team and drove to Hollidaysburg and thence to Altoona."

The pastor was called before a church committee and confessed his guilt. He said he was "down and out." All he desired was that nothing be said until he got his family away from Altoona. Deller wrote his resignation and sent it to Rev. J. L. L. Bressler, presiding elder of Altoona district, packed up a few personal effects and left the city. It is said that he confessed his indiscretion to a fellow clergyman on Friday night, and was restrained with difficulty from self-destruction.

The young woman in the case attended the Sunday school services on Sunday afternoon and the trustees requested her to leave the audience room. She complied without protest.

Deller, who is about 32 years of age, was graduated three years ago from Otterbein college in Ohio. The Second church was his first charge.

Runyan Pleaded Not Guilty

Defaulting Teller Who Didn't Get Away Will Offer Insanity Defense

New York, July 9.—Chester B. Runyan, paying teller of the Windsor Trust company, was arraigned in court today and pleaded not guilty, and his case was postponed until next week. It is said that he will make a plea of insanity as a defense.

No Clue to the Thief.

In spite of the fact that Constable Love sent telephone messages apprising the authorities of the robbery to twenty different towns, and sent out 200 postal cards, no clue has yet been obtained that would lead to the arrest of the party who stole Pat Finch's horse, vehicle and other articles Sunday night.

HUME BLAMES A WOMAN

YALE GRADUATE SENTENCED TO PRISON FOR FORGERY.

SAYS THAT SHE LED HIM ASTRAY

Robert Woolsey Hume Given an Indeterminate Sentence of One to Five Years in Prison—Found it Easy to Forge.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—Passing a worthless check for $60, for which he pleaded guilty, Robert Woolsey Hume, class '07, Yale, was given an indeterminate sentence yesterday of from one to five years in the penitentiary. He was sentenced by Judge McCabe Moore, of the Wyandotte district court. Hume is the son of a missionary and was born in India. He is 22 years old.

Hume's case is in many ways a peculiar one. It is alleged he is from an old New England family, and that his father who now lives in New Haven, Conn., was lavish in giving money for his education.

Up to his junior year in college his record was considered good, then he began forging checks as though possessed of a mania for the work. Hume says that a woman was at the bottom of this sudden collapse of morals.

"I was only a boy then," said Hume to the court yesterday. "Not much could be expected from me in the 'good' line, for I was easily influenced and prone to bad company, but this woman was the cause of all my trouble."

"I met her in my freshman year at a dance. I soon fell violently in love with her. We did not live happily. It was impossible. She had a very little money and I found myself almost penniless. I discovered that to forge a check was a very simple matter. I believed there was very little risk, too, so I did it again and again. My wife and I quarreled frequently. Finally she applied for a divorce. Her case is still pending in the courts."

"As quickly as I could do so I came west to live down my troubles. At the Griffin Wheel works, where I got my first job, I got hurt, I had to have money, so I remembered the old trick and passed that check."

The check for which Hume was convicted yesterday was one passed on Charles Lytle, Adams and Kansas avenue, Kansas City, Kan.

THE BIG SHOOT TODAY

Determines Who Will Represent National Guard at Camp Perry.

Kansas City, Mo., July.—The contest to determine what men from the National Guard in Missouri will represent the state at the national rifle shoot at Camp Perry, O., August 18-23, began this morning on the rifle range in Swope park.

The only marksmen who have scored 98 or more out of a possible 100 at 200, 300 and 500 yards in the contest last year are entered in the contest.

There are fifty-two of these men. Fourteen are from the First regiment of St. Louis, two from the Second of Sedalia, Major S. W. James and Captain H. O. Moss, twenty-four from the Third of Kansas City, five from the Fourth of Unionville and Tokio, and six from the Sixth battalion at Jackson and Lutesville.

Captain W. L. Chambers, of St. Louis, has charge of the contest.

GAVE A FIG LEAF PARTY

A PEEP THROUGH UNDERBRUSH SHOCKED INTRUDERS AND ARRESTS FOLLOWED.

HAD "BOOZE" AND OTHER THINGS

Members of the Des Moines, Iowa, Aristocracy Who Will Never Forget Their Experience on July Fourth.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 9.—Although the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, a dozen or more members of Des Moines's aristocracy have sworn off on "fig leaf" parties, and are earnestly hoping to live down the airing which their indiscretion received before Justice Deford, in Valley Junction, a suburb.

The defendants in the case were all exclusive members of West End society. On July 4 the party hid themselves to a secluded spot on Walnut creek, near Valley Junction, where the Rock Island shops are located.

The day was excessively hot, but an abundance of liquid refreshments were provided. A. E. Stephens, who filed information against the crowd, testified that an unusual amount of laughter attracted him to the vicinity of Walnut creek, where he was dumbfounded to discover upon peering through the underbrush that members of the party had removed their garments to a degree of startling abbreviation, and that several of the women had actually made skirts of leaves artistically sewed together.

Some of the party were suspended from the limbs of trees and were chattering like monkeys, while others were too far gone from champagne to be interested in anything.

Stephens declared that Des Moines aristocrats could not insult the people of Valley Junction even on the Fourth of July, and the information was filed accordingly. Efforts to hush up the affair proved futile, and the case was called for trial yesterday afternoon.

The men looked dejected and the women shed tears. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, the members remarking that there was no danger that fig-leaf parties would ever become popular.

SUIT FOR DIVORCE FILED

Couple Married in Pettis County On September 6th, 1874.

J. H. Morrison, a prosperous and wealthy farmer residing two and one-half miles northwest of Houstonia, through Attorney G. F. Longan, today filed suit in the Pettis county court, asking for a decree of divorce from his wife, Mrs. Kate Morrison.

Plaintiff states in his petition that they were married in this county on September 6, 1874, and lived together until May 13, 1907, at which time they separated.

Plaintiff gives as his grounds for a divorce that their twenty-six-year-old adopted son, William D. Morrison, is a base and shiftless young man and refuses to work, and every time plaintiff admonishes the young man to cease his reckless life and go to work and practice economy the defendant in the case sides with the youth and against the plaintiff.

Plaintiff also states that defendant went to Sweet Springs, Mo., with her adopted son, and thereafter refused to live with plaintiff.

THROWN FROM A BUGGY

Mrs. "Bud" McDonald the Victim of a Painful Accident.

Mrs. "Bud" McDonald is laid up at her home on East Broadway, suffering from severe contusions received in an accident last Saturday.

On that day she was riding in a buggy near New York avenue, on Broadway, when a horsefly alighted on the animal pulling the vehicle.

In a vain endeavor to shake off the insect the horse swerved the vehicle to one side, throwing the occupant to the ground, with the above result.

Presented With Flowers.

The members of Wichita tribe of Red Men have presented to Mrs. C. H. Bard, Miss Sarah Payne and Miss Lillie Brandt each a handsome bouquet of flowers, in appreciation for the assistance rendered by the trio at the annual memorial services of the order last Sunday.

Henry Bryant Is Out.

Henry Bryant, who since the opening of the new Sedalia theatre has been employed as watchman at the playhouse and also at the Aldome, has resigned. George Eads, another police officer, succeeds him.

Kentucky Street Paving.

Contractor Dean has begun laying the brick for the street paving on Kentucky avenue.

STILL CONTRADICT STORY

MORE TESTIMONY FROM FRISCO AS TO FALSITY OF ORCHARD'S TALE.

COOK SAYS HE TOLD FALSEHOOD

Denies That He Took Her to Theatre While Developing the Plot to Blow Up Bradley, Her Employer.

Boise, Idaho, July 9.—When the Haywood trial was resumed this morning the reading of San Francisco depositions was continued. Senator Borah was indisposed and was not in court, and with the prospects that another full day would have to be given over again to depositions, few spectators were present.

The day began with the testimony of J. B. Teilly, who lived near the Bradley apartments in San Francisco. He declared that he passed the house a few minutes before the explosion and saw a Japanese cleaning the stoop and vestibule, and did not believe it was within the range of possibility for anyone to have placed a bomb there in the manner indicated by Orchard in the time which elapsed between his passing and the report of the explosion.

The deposition of Mrs. Charles Pickard, who as Mrs. Crow had been employed by the Bradleys as a cook, was also read. She told of having smelled gas in the house several days prior to the explosion. Mrs. Crow denied absolutely that she had gone to the theatre with Orchard, as he testified, and declared that he told a falsehood when he testified to that effect.

LOOTED THE CASH BOX

"Black Hand" Warning He Left Behind Proved His Undoing.

Winchester, Ind., July 9.—The cash register in Murray Blish's drug store at Farmland was freed of coin last night, and the burglar tacked up a placard bearing a Black Hand emblem and the legend: "Beware, we will come again."

Zeb Adams, an employee, was suspected, and, arrested, he confessed. He thinks he overstepped himself in trying to make the affair mysterious. The handwriting entangled him. The money was found hidden in a tin can in a haymow.

MUST PAY MORE TAXES

Express Companies in Kansas Will Have to Pay Up.

Topeka, Kan., July 9.—All express companies doing business in Kansas will be required to pay excess tax this year. Such was the decision of the state tax commissioner today. The law became effective March 14, but the companies contended that if the law was enforced this year it would be retroactive, in that the assessment is based on business done up to May 31, and the law was passed after the fiscal year was begun.

Again Making Trips.

The elevator in the Hoffman building, which has been out of commission for several days while the cable was being repaired, was put in operation this morning.

A PASTOR AS HYPNOTIST

WOMAN HAS A STRANGE TALE ON A LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, MINISTER.

2 CHECKS ARE ALSO PROTESTED

The Rev. Mr. Ferguson Was Engaged to Two Women When He Ran Away With Another a Few Days Ago.

Lincoln, Neb., July 9.—The Rev. Wilbert P. Ferguson, pastor of the First Methodist church at University place, is absent from his post, ostensibly on a thirty days' vacation granted him by his board.

When he returns, if he does, he will face charges preferred against him before the presiding elder, the exact nature of which have not been made known. The pastor left word that he had gone to Chicago.

The story told at University place is that he is accused of misconduct with Mrs. A. E. Cross, wife of a member of his congregation, at a hotel in Lincoln. Mrs. Cross had confessed to her husband and he laid the matter before the Rev. Mr. Crostwaite, who preferred the charges.

The Rev. Mr. Ferguson boarded for a considerable time with Mrs. Cross and they became well acquainted. She became infatuated with the minister of the gospel and some times allowed him to practice his powers of hypnotism upon her. Now, Mrs. Cross says in anger, that the Rev. Mr. Ferguson took advantage of her at one time when she was hypnotized. Aside from this incident Ferguson had his proposals of marriage accepted by at least two women in the little suburb.

The victims were Miss Mary Smith, an instructor in the Wesleyan conservatory, and Mrs. C. C. White, the widow of a wealthy man, who gave $60,000 to the university for a memorial hall.

Miss Smith is broken hearted over his faithlessness.

It is hinted that Ferguson victimized Mrs. White in money as well as in affections. She refused to discuss the matter.

Two checks, each for $25, have turned up. He had no account with the bank upon which they were drawn.

TO THE HARVEST FIELD

Professional Men of Dodge City Will Help Save the Wheat.

Dodge City, Kan., July 9.—The following proclamation has been issued by Mayor Jacoby:

"The matter of saving the wheat crop is becoming serious from lack of labor. I therefore call upon the citizens of Dodge City of all classes, professions and occupations for volunteers to devote what time they can to assist the farmers of this county in saving crops. Report to the city clerk. Get busy."

There was a large crowd at the Phoenix club rooms meeting, including men of all occupations from judges down to the workmen. Several professional men volunteered to go into the harvest fields. The wheat yield is going to be better than expected. Many acres that were considered lost will make a good, but late crop.

A TRIP BY AUTOS

Sedalians Will Depart for Kansas City Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Crouch, accompanied by their guest, Miss Nannie Seawright, and their children, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cloney and son, Tom, each party in their own automobile, will leave Sedalia early Thursday morning and travel overland to Kansas City, returning here Saturday morning.

Last Sunday the same parties rode in their automobiles from Warrensburg to Sedalia, making the trip in about two and one-half hours, after they reached the right road.

THE SAME OLD CRY.

Again we have with us the old and ever recurring weed problem.

While the city gardener has watched with proud and exulting eyes his radishes, onions, beets, cucumbers and tomatoes grow and flourish, and has carefully seen to it that the weeds have not been permitted to even a root hold in his plot, the same sun and rain that accomplish these greatly desired good results with the garden truck have also fallen upon the vacant lots throughout the city and nurtured the noxious vegetation there, until now in every section these unsightly and unhealthy growths defiantly rear their heads and with every passing breeze scatter to the four winds their disease-breeding germs, without let or hindrance.

The immortal Patrick Henry, in his impassioned speech before the Virginia general assembly, denouncing the tyrannical methods of the mother country, said: "Gentlemen, many cry
'peace, peace!' but there is no peace."
So likewise have we cried "Cut the weeds, cut the weeds!" but still they stand as monuments to a city's inaction and lack of civic pride.

This condition seems so unnecessary and foolish that one wonders why it can exist at all, for it would require but little effort to have it all done away with and the cost would amount to but little.

If the owners of the lots where these weeds are growing will not cut them, they can be made to do so,
just as a negligent property owner can be made to clean his sidewalks after a snow fall. The police court has sometimes, it is true, been called upon as a means to this end, but it was never necessary a second time with the same individual. The same means, if used on those who permit the present nuisance, would very speedily bring them to a realization that vacant lots must be kept in a sightly and healthy condition, and not allowed to become a menace to the lives of the people.

If the gentlemen who have charge of municipal affairs will put a little energy and effort, together with a small portion of backbone, into remedying this evil, it wouldn't be a week before every one of these eye-sores would be of the past.

PROFESSIONAL POLITICS

When Horace Greeley advised the young men of the country to go west he was evidently aware of the great possibilities of that section of the country of which he spoke. Time has demonstrated to those who availed themselves of his advice, that the benefits resulting from the ventures made in that part of the country far exceed their expectations.

Now the young men are advised to abandon every other calling in the affairs of men and enter the field of politics, which has been declared to be the highest and holiest profession of them all. At Chautauqua, N. Y., in an address before the assembly,

the Rt. Rev. Charles D. Williams, bishop of Michigan, informed his audience that he considered politics to be the highest profession that any young man can enter, not even excepting the ministry when compared with practical politics.

Perhaps the experience of the reverend bishop during his labors in the vineyard of the Lord for the cause of erring humanity has been instrumental in gaining for him a broader and more comprehensive knowledge of American politics and politicians than that of the average layman, and under this supposition, his advice is worthy of the attention of those whose ambition constantly craves the purification of politics.

There is a shadow of doubt existing, however, as to whether this advice is tendered with sincerity of purpose, and as a matter of wisdom, for the guidance of young men in choosing a vocation in the world, or merely the spontaneous combustion of a lot of pen up, sensational energy, full of sound and fury, which chautauqua lecturers sometimes manifest in their exhibitions of oratory.

The history of the American politician, from the days of Boss Tweed down to the unexpected exposures of the disgraceful campaign contributions of the great life insurance companies, records no instance of sufficient import to induce the young man to forsake the plow or the pulpit, the shop or the office, the business or professional pursuits, to take up and devote his life and energies to a vocation so contaminated with deception, graft and corruption, as that of practical politics.

If patriotism were a necessary qualification for recognition in the nation's politics, and if the politics of the nation had a tendency to inspire patriotism into the hearts of its citizens, then the advice of the bishop might be considered worthy of universal acceptance, but until that exists practical politics is a pretty safe proposition for the young man to steer clear of.

If it were possible to find the man, who, at the completion of his son's education, would confidently advise him to take up politics as a profession and as a means of livelihood, then, in so far as the matter of "the most pathetic sight" is concerned, such a man would outshine the one trying to look pleasant and enjoyable at a Sunday school picnic at a ratio of 16 to 1.

Senator Tillman would like to see a southern man nominated by the democrats for president, but thinks he will have to content himself with "Culberson of Texas, Hoke Smith of Georgia, or Daniel of Virginia" for the second place on the ticket. All of these able and honest men are quite fit to aspire to the presidency.
The nominee for vice president should always measure up to the standard fixed for president, for in the future, as in the past, the vice president may be called upon to serve as president.

The canvass of Mississippi by John Sharp Williams and Governor Vardeman for United States senator has led to Mr. Williams being seriously talked of as a candidate for president.
Mr. Williams combines the two great requisites as a leader, for in addition to being one of the most scholarly debaters in the country, he also has drawn around him the best minds in the party by his absolute fairness and the power of his intellectual attainments.

Senator Pettus also suffers the embarrassment of having an alternate senator waiting to step into his shoes.

Marse Henry's candidate may have a winning smile, but Mr. Bryan possesses the kind that won't come off.

The umbrella trust seems liable to get it under the fifth rib.

Sacred Song Writer Dies.

Warren, Ohio, July 9.—Prof. James wrote "There Shall Be Showers of Blessings," as well as many other Gospel songs.

from the officers of all the different organizations affiliated with the state association.

Notes of the Convention.

Henry Phelps, of Joplin, president of the Missouri State Retail Grocers' association; F. G. Chinn, secretary, and H. A. Banks, treasurer, the former of Jefferson City and the latter of Springfield, arrived last night to attend the convention.

John A. Knott, of the Hannibal
Journal, and a member of the state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners, accompanied by Geo.
F. Castle, James Lampton and R. A.
Spencer, all of Hannibal, arrived this morning to attend the convention.

Among the Jefferson City visitors at the convention are D. C. Weatherby and Lafe Bacon.

W. W. Smith, of Springfield, candidate for president of the association, has a large following in the convention, and it looks as if he would make it pretty lively for the other aspirants for the honor. Mr. Smith is the owner of one of the largest clothing houses in his home city. He is an ex-president of the Springfield Retail Merchants' association and was president of the 1906 Fall Festival association. He is a clever, jolly fellow and makes friends of everyone with whom he comes in contact.

A large delegation of members of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' association of St. Louis arrived last night in a special car to attend the eighth annual convention of the Retail Merchants' association.

The Money End.

"Maurice Grau told me," said a composer, "that he owed his success to the fact that he produced opera solely from the business, never from the musical or artistic standpoint.

"Frank, wasn't it? Most men in his line use his method, but hypocritically pretend to be artists.

"Poor Grau in our discussion said that he went at music as a certain perfumer went at perfumes—not with the primary idea of producing something excellent, but with the primary idea of producing something novel, bizarre, profitable.

"This perfumer, he explained, said
one day gayly to a friend:

"Hurrah! I'm doing a pushing business. I'll be rich in a year. I've invented a new perfume that smells just like gasoline."

"But—," said his friend, "but—I don't—er—quite see the point."

"The stuff is selling like hot cakes," said the perfumer. "Men and women alike are buying it. You see, it tickles their vanity. They go about redolent of gasoline and people think that they own automobiles."

Just the Reverse.

The owner of the ranch in one of the arid regions of the great west was entertaining an eastern relative. He showed him over his broad acres, spoke of the difficulties that had been overcome in making the desert blossom as the rose, and outlined his plans for the future.

"But is it possible," asked the visitor, "to make more than a bare living on such land and in such a climate as this?"

"It is. I have made considerably more than a bare living on this land."

"I am glad to hear it, Cyrus. Then you have something laid up for a rainy day, have you?"

"Not exactly," rejoined the host, with a laugh. "On the contrary, with the help of an occasional rainy day, I have managed to lay something by for the dry days."—Cleveland Leader.

The Almighty Dollar.

A recent headline, "Rule of the Dollar," has suggested the inquiry,
"Who originated the familiar phrase,
"the almighty dollar?" It was Washington Irving, in "The Creole Village," which he published in 1837. The phrase became so popular and excited so much controversy in consequence of a doubt whether the adjective were irreverent, that its author had to explain 18 years later that he intended
"no irreverence, even to the dollar, which he is well aware is becoming daily more and more an object of worship." "Dollar" is certainly one of the world's greatest words now, and it is difficult to realize that it only means "valleyer," the "thaler" having been named after the Joachimthal, in Bohemia, in whose valley it was first coined in the sixteenth century.—London Chronicle.

A Quid Needed to Help Lubricate
Through the Long Sentences.

When I became aware indeed it was to see them all disfigured by their use of their weapon; aware, I mean, that each member of the group, while he or she talked or listened, was primarily occupied after the manner of a rumin-ant animal. They were discussing Wagner in short under the inspiration of chew-gum, and though "Parsifal" might be their secondary care the independent action of their paws was the first.

Slow, resolute, inexorable, eternal, it had yet managed for a little, amid their talk, to beguile suspicion; but once detected it spoiled for me; I confess, not only the quality of that exhibition but the very fact of it, which had been dearer to me still; since, obviously, I could now, indifferent to this value, do nothing but ask myself if a sense for manners were the more likely to be rooted in a gentleman rolling his bolus about while he talked to a lady, or in a lady who rolled hers about while he was so engaged.

Where, definitely, were the civilities, as one expects women to embody them, when such practices and such pauces as those were part of the training for them? What address, what response, what pleasantness of propriety in general, might be held to consort, for a woman of whatever age, with her having not to "mind" that her interlocutor of whatever condition, should chew in her face for sweet freedom or with his having not to mind that she should chew in his?—

KEEPING
LATE HOURS

BROWN HAWley, what time do you think it is?"
Mrs. Hawley demanded from the depths of the bedroom.
Hawley pulled out his watch.
"Bet I've looked at that watch 50 times since I found the main-spring broken on the way home tonight," he said, keeping a thumb between the leaves of his book. "Oh, I don't know—not late."

"Look at this!" She appeared in the doorway holding up a small bronze clock, whose hands were pointing to quarter past 12.

"That isn't right," he protested.
"But it is. I asked the telephone girl for the correct time before I started it this afternoon. Why, I just lay down on the bed by baby for a minute this evening and I must have dropped off and slept all this time.
Have you been reading ever since I went into the bedroom?"

"Why, yes—unless I've been asleep in my chair. I would have sworn it wasn't later than ten."
"And we were going to bed early tonight so you could get a good start in the morning! Isn't it ridiculous? Come on, now. Don't read any more." Mrs.
Hawley began to bustle about, fastening windows and turning off lights.

"I'll set the alarm for seven," she said. "I don't see how we could stand it to get up at six now. Come, hurry.
It will be one o'clock before we're asleep."

"They were just dozing off when a sound from the apartment overhead made Mrs. Hawley sit up in bed.

"What do you think of that?" she exclaimed, indignantly. "That man upstairs is playing ragtime at one o'clock in the morning."

"It's a poor outlook for getting up early," Hawley agreed. "They're having a midnight party down below, too, from the noises that come up through the court."

"I'm going to see. It's no use trying to sleep while that piano's being thumped."

Accordingly, in dressing gown and slippers, Mrs. Hawley reconnoitered.
It was a long time before she returned to the bedroom. "Brown," she said, then, "what kind of a building have we moved into?"

"A flat building," he answered, with husbandlike omniscience.

"Hark! They're been playing cards at their dining room table down there, and now they're making coffee. I saw them turn on the light in the kitchen just now and I smell the coffee. At two o'clock in the morning! And listen! That nice-appearing Mr. Hess has just come in—now! Brown, we're certainly not obliged to endure such performances until this time in the morning—not in a respectable building. I shall complain to the agent tomorrow."

It seemed to the Hawleys that they had just closed their eyes when the ring of the alarm clock startled them.
"You made a mistake setting it," Hawley declared, lighting a match to investigate. "No, sir," he added, in an aggravated tone. "It's actually seven o'clock. Raining, too, and dark as a pocket."

Mrs. Hawley rubbed her eyes and accepted her fate courageously. With all the lights on to make the dark morning more cheerful, she flew about and had breakfast on the table in short order.

"Everybody except us seems to have overslept this dark morning," she remarked, complacently, as they sat down. "The building is perfectly still.
The milkman's late again, too, but luckily I had some cream left over. I'm out of all patience with him. If it happens again I'll change."

"There he comes now," said Hawley. "I'll give him a breeze myself."

Five minutes later an injured-looking man came back to his place at the table. "Mrs. Hawley," he demanded,
"what time yesterday did you set that wonderful clock?"

"What do you mean? I didn't set it.
I started it at half past three. And the funny part was that it happened to have stopped at the exact minute the telephone girl told me the time, so I just wound it without touching the hands."

"And didn't look at it again?"

"Not until night. Mary Bartlett was here and I went by her watch. Why?"

He knitted his brows. Then he looked up solemnly. "You started it with the hands at quarter past six, thinking it was half past three, and you hustled me off to bed at half past nine. And it is now five o'clock in the morning."

As he was starting for his office at eight o'clock, still grumpy, she called him back to the door.

"It's important," she told him, as he came reluctantly up the stairs again.
"I wanted to ask if you aren't glad we found out our mistake before I complained to the agent?"

"Pshaw! You've made me miss my train for that," was all he said.

But, though it sounded cross, she went back into her flat satisfied. As he turned the corner of the stairway going down she had caught him smiling.

High Grade Stocks of Clothing, Hats, Shoes and Furnishings at a Sacrifice!

Why This Unparalleled, Unprecedented Value-Giving Sale is Made Possible

Owing to the unseasonable weather, we are forced to adopt this drastic method of disposing of our stocks. Cost, profit or value will not be considered. Every dollar's worth of goods must be turned into cash. New, seasonable merchandise, goods that are in demand right now will be sold at prices far below their real value. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Merchandise in Demand Right Now

Reduced to the Limit

Too much stock! Too much money tied up! Time's too short to wait for profit! They must go in the Great Closing Out Sale. $22,500 worth of Seasonable Merchandise slaughtered to the limit. You know our reputation and you know our goods. We have simply cut the prices to the limit. All thoughts of profit have been forgotten.

In a French Restaurant.

There is a certain restaurant in town of quite ambitious pretensions, but not always successful realizations. In fact, it may be described as French on a Hibernian footing. Two people who dined there the other evening were finishing their dessert when the waiter approached. With napkin in one hand and tray poised on the other, he inquired in his best Gaelic accents:

"And will yez both have dimmy-tassys?"

Reference Books.

The children should be taught how to use reference books, to look up meanings, spellings, places, and so on. The habit of looking up whatever needs greater elucidation augurs well for good culture and education. The child that has acquired it requires but little going to school in order to surpass those who have expensive schooling but no training in the use of reference books.

NO USE FOR TEDDY BEAR

THEY ARE ROUNDLY DENOUNCED BY A WELL KNOWN CATHOLIC PRIEST.

WANT DOLLS FOR THE LITTLE ONES

All of the instincts of Motherhood Are Thus Instilled--Not So With the Brutal Teddy Bear.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 9.—The "Teddy Bear" fad was severely scored by Rev. Michael Epser from the pulpit in St. Joseph's Catholic church Sunday. The priest held that the toy beasts in the hands of small girls were destroying all instincts of motherhood, and in the future would be realized as one of the most powerful factors in race suicide.

Rev. Epser spoke earnestly to his congregation for fifteen minutes on the subject, exhorting all parents to replace the doll in the affections of the children and discard the "Teddy Bear" forever.

"There is something natural," said Fr. Epser, "in the care of a doll by a little girl. It is the first manifestation of the feeling of motherhood. In the development of these motherly instincts lies the hope of all nations. It is a monstrous crime to do anything that will tend to destroy these instincts. That is what the 'Teddy Bear' is doing, and that is why it is going to be a factor in race suicide if the custom is not suppressed."

THE JOLLY JESTERS.

They Have a Bout with the Watermelon.

"Mr. Middleman, ah desires to propound a question."

"Very well, Mr. Tambo."

"Why do dey designate dat beautiful southern vegetable as ah watermelon?"

"That's easy. Because it makes your mouth water."

"Nowhar near de answer. It's called ah watermelon because yo' cut it in de spring."

"Speakin' ob de spring reminds me," broke in the other end-man. "Ma ole daddy went out to git some water one day an' he done fell in ah spring."

"Was he drowned?"

"He wasn't zactly drowned, but it done killed him."

"That's strange. He fell in the spring and was killed?"

"Yessah."

"But he wasn't drowned?"

"No, sah."

"Well, did he die in the spring?"

"No, sah; he died in de fall."

"Our golden voiced tenor, Mr. Vio. Lett will contribute that heart-touching ballad entitled, 'Warden, Brush Those Locks Away; I Yearn for Liberty.'—Harper's Weekly.

Vandal at Shelley's Grave.

A correspondent who visited the Protestant cemetery at Rome the other day reports an act of silly vandalism at Shelley's grave. "As we wandered about," says the correspondent, "we saw for about half an hour a young man tourist sitting on Shelley's grave, carefully occupied in cutting the marble with a sharp instrument."

"We thought he was restoring the lettering, but, coming to his side, we found that he had cut his own name (which I will not give), 'New Zealand, April, 1907. I love thee,' close to the inscription on the flat white marble surface. He had then soaked with ink his own work, leaving the disgraceful fruits of his vandalism for all who visit this interesting place." How any professing admirer of Shelley could be guilty of such conduct passes belief.

Easy Mathematics.

"Yes," said the man in the Rookery the other day, "he looks to me like a shiftless sort of a proposition." "He is," answered the salesman. "Why, he's had four different jobs during this last year." "Is that so?" queried the other. "How'd you find out that he'd have four of them?" "Oh, he's let it out in little things he's said at different times," answered the salesman, "and I found it out by just putting two and two together." "Oh, I see," smiled his friend. "Well, that's easy, two and two does make four, sure enough."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Women's Chance in Literature.

The world is waiting for the woman author, who need not be great, but only natural and downright, to reveal to it (as a male world) the true inwardness of a woman's nature, her feelings toward other women, what attracts her in men, and who repels, how she really feels when she is kissed by a man, and how she feels when she is not kissed, and a thousand other things which a man author can only guess at and in no case can expound. Here, surely, is a chance for a woman writer.—Academy.

THE UMBRELLA CONSCIENCE.

How the Clever Business Man Secured a Rain Shredder.

The following story is told of a New Yorker—a New York business man, to be exact and contains a suggestion which may be of great benefit to the reader at some period of his career. The writer has tried it several times with remarkable success:

The business man in question was caught in a rainstorm without an umbrella, and being in too much of a hurry to wait for it to stop raining, he devised a brilliant and ingenious scheme for obtaining the desired article—an umbrella, that is. As soon as he saw a person who looked as though he might have a sufficiently guilty conscience, the business man rushed upon him abruptly, exclaiming: "I'll trouble you for my umbrella!"

The other started guiltily and hastily handed over the umbrella with a few words of apology, while the business man haughtily walked off with his prize.

While the scheme is a good one, some discrimination must be used in selecting the victim. The writer disclaims all responsibility for its misuse at the hands of incompetent persons.

CHANGE IN COTTON GROWING.

Flat Cultivation Gives Better Results Than Hill Tillage.

Flat cultivation of cotton as introduced by the Arkansas experiment station is finding favor with the lint growers of that state over the old method of hill tillage, the advantage being in the saving of labor and economy of seed, and it is declared, a better yield.

Under old practice, says Southwest Magazine, the soil was thrown up in a furrow and the seed sown continuously in a drill. Later the plants were thinned to a single stand by hoeing the entire surface of the cotton row and cutting away 19 of every 20 stalks.

Flat cultivation consists of thoroughly preparing the seed bed and planting the cotton in checks 18 to 24 inches apart in a drill, to enable cultivation in both directions, a method that will naturally lessen the work of the chopper and save a greater part of the seed.

Millions We Burn or Gamble.

In all this huge country of ours we build about $500,000,000 worth of new buildings a year; our fire losses, including cost of fire departments and insurance, exceeds that sum. Two hundred millions of dollars are actually burned up, gone into smoke; fire departments, high water pressure and all that sort of thing mean nearly $300,000,000 more; we annually pay out $195,000,000 to the gentlemen who condescend to gamble with us on the question of fire in insurance premiums.

The sum of these amounts, writes W. F. Fitzpatrick, in the Metropolitan Magazine, is our fire cost, and we get back, after considerable trouble and some litigation, about $95,000,000 from the insurance companies as a slight salve for our fire injuries!

Painful Feet.

Pretty feet are always painful feet. Shoes rarely if ever fit them. Hence they carry their possessors haltingly and too often they must direct themselves toward the chiropodist's.

The high, arched instep, the pretty foot's essential quality, is yet in a way a deformity, for it causes an abnormal tightness of the tendons governing the toes, and the toes in consequence all turn under a little as though trying to grasp something.

Turning under, the joints stand out prominently, just as the knuckles stand out when the fingers are closed. The leather of the shoe rubs and irritates these prominent joints and the pretty foot's owner pays the penalty in many a smart, in many a jumping pain.

KEEPING THE ENGINE CLEAN.

Practice Which Affects Men as Well as Machines.

"Does it pay to wipe engines?" asks the Railway and Engineering Review. "In the good old days they were kept clean, as a matter of course. Then came pooling, and with its advent a disposition to cut out the expense of wiping altogether, on freight locomotives, at least. Despite the increased use of power it is observable that most lines are again taking up wiping as a legitimate item of maintenance. We believe that it is in recognition of the fact that there is considerable more to the wiping proposition than the mere matter of the general appearance of the locomotive. It has been a well observed fact that abandonment of wiping off any particular division always caused an equivalent 'let-down' in the esprit de corps of the engine crews, which resulted in a marked increase of engine failures, in which the roundhouse men, as well as the engine crews, were to blame. . . . It is gratifying to note recognition of the fact that one of the essentials in securing good locomotive performance lies in providing the engine crews with clean engines to run and shop men with clean engines to work on and clean surroundings to work in."

Floral Fancies.

To arrange flowers in a bowl first fill the bowl with dried moss, water it well, and stick the stalks of the flowers into the moss. In this manner half the number of blossoms will suffice. When flowers are scarce it is a good plan to arrange them in vases and bowls placed in front of a mirror, by which means their value is doubled. Bright colored blossoms such as poppies, azaleas, etc., should always be arranged with their backs to the light, so that the full abundance of their beauty may be shown. Corsage bouquets should have their stems neatly covered with silver foil, so as to prevent them from staining or wetting the delicate silks, chiffon or lace on to which they are fixed.

No Doubt of Their Standing.

A Washington correspondent told the other night a story that he claimed to have heard from President Roosevelt at a Gridiron club dinner. "Two women," he said, "were discussing some new neighbors who had moved into one of the most sumptuous houses in their city. 'They seem to be very rich,' said the first. 'Oh, they are,' said the second. 'Shall you call?' 'Decidedly.' 'You are sure, are you, that they are—quite correct, quite—er—good form?' 'Oh, my dear, I'm positive,' said the second woman. 'They have 30 servants, 18 horses, 12 dogs, 11 automobiles and one child.'"

Use Compressed Air.

Compressed air is now used in the large iron foundry at the Schenectady works of the General Electric company for almost every operation connected with the making of a finished casting. Although the machinery in the other adjacent shops is operated entirely by electricity, in the iron foundry, where the operations are scattered and intermittent, compressed air was found to be advantageous for small power services. The air is supplied at 80 pounds pressure by a number of electric motor-driven compressors of different capacities.

No Danger.

"Aren't you afraid that dog will bite some of your neighbors?" "Not a bit. He's bitten several already and it didn't seem to hurt him any."

Properly Sized Up.

"William," said an Oil City woman to her husband, "I gave away an old pair of your trousers to-day." "You did? What color were they?" "Blue, I think." "Great Scott! Woman, do you know what you've done?" "Why—no—William, I don't. Was there any money in them?" "Was there any money in them? There happened to be $50 in them which I intended handing you for a present." "William," said the woman, quietly, "I believe you are lying." Which he was, of course. —Oil City Herald.

TRIED TO MOB CHANCE

HURLED BOTTLES AT CHICAGO FIRST SACKER AT MONDAY'S GAME.

RIOT ON THE BROOKLYN GROUNDS

Crowd Rushed at Him When He Threw a Missile Back and Hit a Boy Spectator—Police in Auto Rescued Him.

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 9.—Chicago won easily from the Brooklyn team yesterday, 5 to 0. Ill feeling on the part of some of the spectators came near bringing about a riot during the closing moments of the game. The home team had two men out in the latter half of the ninth inning when some empty mineral water bottles were thrown in the direction of Frank Chance at first base from the bleachers and open stand behind left field and first base. Chance was not hit by any of the missiles, but as they were being thrown indiscriminately, he picked up two of the bottles and returned them in the direction from which they had come. One of them hit a boy on the leg and immediately there was an uproar followed by a fusillade of bottles from the open stands.

President Ebberts immediately called upon Police Captain Maude, who, with thirty men in uniform and plain clothes, rushed to the bleachers and quickly quelled the disturbance. Chance was escorted to the club's dressing room by a detective. When the officers had cleared the field sufficiently so that the game could be concluded, Lewis, of Brooklyn, landed a fly to Hoffman, who had taken Chance's place at first base.

After the crowd had left the grounds, several menacing groups of the rougher element gathered on the outside of the park, but after an hour's delay President Ebberts, of the Brooklyn club, managed to evade these and got Chance away in safety across the Brooklyn bridge, with the aid of an automobile, in which the Brooklyn men accompanied the Chicagoan.

Pittsburg Leads in Pig.

Of the total production of 25,307,191 gross tons of pig iron in the United States in 1906 Pennsylvania made 11,247,869 gross tons, and of this output Pittsburg district (Allegheny, Beaver and Washington counties) contributed 6,220,863 tons. In other words, says the Iron Age, the Pittsburg district last year made nearly 25 per cent of the total production of pig iron in the United States, and 55 per cent of the output in Pennsylvania.

CARD FROM SLUM WORKER

Rev. G. Thomas Denies That He Was Arrested at Clinton.

To the Democrat Sentinel.

It has been rumored in the city of Sedalia that I, Rev. G. Thomas, "The Slum Worker," was arrested in Clinton some weeks ago, and that it was published in the Clinton newspaper and clipped by one of Sedalia's papers.

I wish to state that such report is false and without foundation.

It has been claimed by some people that there is no such work as the Slum Work, but I say there is, because I have followed it for ten years and have done a great good for the slums of our races—I shall continue to do the work as long as life remains in me. We are taught "to go unto the hedges and highways and preach His gospel"—this is my motto. Yours for good.—Rev. Geo. Thomas, Evangelical Slum Worker.

Entertainment is Postponed.

NO DESERTIONS UNDER FIRE

Brownson Thinks Japanese Admiral Was Misquoted.

Washington, July 9.—Rear Admiral Brownson said yesterday he was satisfied that the Japanese admiral, Sakamoto, who is reported in the Hochi, a Japanese anti-governmental paper, to have questioned the patriotism of American naval crews and the ability of the American naval officers, has been misquoted. Said Admiral Brownson:

"While spurred on by a spirit of unrest or homesickness, sailors have sometimes left the American navy, they have always done so in time of peace. There is no record of a blue jacket deserting in time of war."

At the Japanese embassy the officials discredited the reported utterances of Admiral Sakamoto. Mr. Masano Hanjira, the second secretary, expressed his strong belief that the admiral had not given voice to any such utterances as those printed or anything like them, and that if he spoke about the matter at all he has been badly misquoted.

Orange Pudding.

Ingredients: Three oranges, one and a quarter pints of milk, one and one-half ounces of corn starch, one ounce of butter, two or three eggs, three ounces of sugar. Cut the oranges in slices, and lay them in a buttered pudding or fireproof dish, sprinkling a little sugar over them. Boil the milk, reserving a little with which to slake the corn starch, mixing the two together as soon as the milk boils. Cook for ten minutes, stirring constantly; add the butter, a pinch of salt, and the yolks of the eggs, with which has been mixed the sugar. Stir for a minute or two longer to cook the eggs; then turn the mixture over the oranges. Bake for ten minutes; cover with a meringue made from the whites of the eggs, return to the oven for a moment to brown, garnish with sections of orange, and serve hot or cold.

Pretty Lamp Shade.

A pretty lamp shade can be made with wire net interlaced with gold cord and beads. It is necessary to cut the net in circular shape, making an opening to go over the lamp chimney. The disk must be cut so as to form a funnel shape when fastened together. With gold thread run the threaded needle through the net meshes, placing a bead on each stitch, and form a short fringe of small beads in bright colors around the bottom of the shade. When completed, finish the top with a row of big round beads. It will be necessary to run heavy wires across the top to prevent the shade from touching the chimney.

HEARD THE DETECTIVES

Speak to His Wife, So Took Poison and Died Soon Afterward.

Toledo, Ohio, July 9.—Desperate over remorse and fear of arrest, Raymond Hanson, alias R. L. Henderson, made a second and successful attempt to die by taking carbolic acid yesterday.

Hanson was lying in his room, suffering from the effects of a dose of acid previously taken, when the detectives called to inquire for him. Mrs. Hanson said her husband was not at home and the officers went away.

As soon as the detectives left Hanson, who had heard them talking, left his bed and drank some acid from a bottle on the dresser. He then reeled into the presence of his wife and told her what he had done. He died shortly afterward.

Hanson, who until recently was an employe of the National Supply company, was wanted on a charge of passing two worthless checks for small amounts.

SUPPRESSED A RIOT

Fire Laddies Assisted the Police at Michigan City, Ind.

Michigan City, Ind., July 9.—Following a drunken carousal, more than fifty Syrians and Turks engaged in a riot last night among themselves in a suburb known as the Syrian settlement, and used knives, clubs and stones. Several of the rioters were wounded.

Two policemen who undertook to quell the disturbance were overpowered, and William Warner, one of the police officers, was beaten and stabbed seriously. He is now in a hospital.

A riot call was sent in, and the entire police force and a company of the fire department raided the settlement. Fifteen or twenty of the rioters have been arrested.

AN IMPROMPTU DUEL

When Old Enemies Met Will Cause the Death of One.

Greencastle, Ind., July 9.—Henry Myers, single, 50 years old, was shot and fatally wounded at Commercial Place, a suburb, and John Buis, his adversary, received in return the charge from a double-barreled shotgun. Buis is 26 years old and has a family. He was not seriously wounded and is now under arrest.

Myers is a teamster and had his home in a covered wagon in Commercial Place. The impromptu duel was fought near his home, and the pistol and shotgun reports aroused the entire village.

Several years ago, it is said, Buis caused the arrest of Myers on a charge of cruelty to animals. Since that time the feeling between them has been bitter.

jury to seven-year-old Henry Johnson last night.

Henry went out to celebrate the 8th of July and didn't come back when called. His mother went after him, took him home and laid him across her knee, but at the second application there began a series of explosions, and the seat of the boy's pants was ripped out. His clothing took fire and he was badly blistered.

His mother received serious burns while fighting the flames.

HOWARD GOULD LOSES

Court Denies Motion to Expurgate Wife's Divorce Petition.

New York, N. Y., July 9.—Howard Gould's application to have stricken out certain allegations in the complaint of his wife, Kathryn Clemmons Gould, who is suing him for a separation, on the ground that they are scandalous, was yesterday denied by Justice McCall in the supreme court. However, other allegations which the court holds were irrelevant were ordered out of the complaint.

The alleged scandalous charges Gould wished eliminated declare that Gould had his wife followed by spies and detectives wherever she went, and that he maintained illicit and immoral relations with women of bad character. Justice McCall held that these allegations are not irrelevant. Mrs. Gould's charge that her husband caused the lock of her mailbox to be changed and instructed his agent to read letters sent to Mrs. Gould and report their contents to the millionaire, is the allegation stricken from the complaint.

SHOT MOTHER TO DEATH

She Had Refused Apology to Her Son in Texas.

Temple, Texas., July 9.—At Kileen, 25 miles west of here, Sunday, Lee Roe, a farmer, aged 38, shot and killed his aged mother because of her alleged utterances concerning Roe's family, and for which the mother refused to apologize.

Roe is at large and the country is being scourged by posses of enraged citizens, who, it is believed will take summary measures of punishment.

RAISED HIS FEET

And the Octogenarian Was Slowly Strangled to Death.

New Albany, Ind., July 9.—Despondent because he was no longer able to work John Andrew Gebhart, 80 years of age, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself to a rafter of a shed in the rear of his home.

So low was the shed that the old gentleman was compelled to raise his feet so that his weight could rest on the rope.

REGARDING RAILROADS

MISSOURI PACIFIC FREIGHT HOUSE SAFE WAS BLOWN OPEN MONDAY.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

At 4 o'clock yesterday morning S. C. Clift, watchman at the Missouri Pacific freight house, Fifth street and Grand avenue, heard a terrific explosion in the office part of the building, which is in the extreme east end, says today's Kansas City Journal.

Clift was about the middle of the freight house, 200 feet away, at the time. When he opened the door leading into the office he was all but blinded by the smoke which rushed from the room.

An examination showed that the outer and inner doors of the office safe, a large affair, had been blown off. The robbers secured $160 in cash and about $800 in checks. The checks were later found on the river bank near the Winner piers, where the safe blowers are believed to have taken a skiff and escaped across the river.

Hit Man at Grand Avenue.

Commenting on the six-mile-an-hour ordinance, Charles Goodwin, one of the fastest running engineers on the Missouri Pacific, who came in from Kansas City yesterday on No. 2, with his train going at the rate of about six miles an hour, had a good joke to tell about hitting a man at Grand avenue.

Charlie said he hit the man before he knew it, but, unconcerned, the man looked over his shoulder, and said, "Stop pushing, you son of a gun, and I'll get off."

Harry Beal a Witness.

Harry Beal, Missouri Pacific baggageman on trains Nos. 21 and 22, has been granted a two days' lay-off, to attend court at St. Louis, where he is the principal witness in a case where two "fraud detectives" were arrested last week, charged with robbing a St. Louisan of jewelry and clothing to the value of $300.

Three Killed Under Engine.

Spreading rails derailed and dinged a switch engine two miles north of Herrin, Ill., on the Burlington road, yesterday, killing Engineer S. Ford and Trainmen Lewis Werne and Thomas Hutton.

The engine rolled down an embankment and the three men were caught under it and crushed to death.

Car Porter a "Lid" Lifter.

William Femick, a negro porter on the Eli, the last Kansas City-Chicago Burlington train, was arrested at Shelby, Mo., Sunday by Sheriff Perry, charged with selling beer on the rear of the Pullman. His preliminary will be held Thursday.

G. H. Gibson, a Missouri Pacific

conductor, went to Smithton this forenoon to visit his mother.

Trainmaster W. E. Merrifield, of the Missouri Pacific, and Roadmaster J. M. Chandler went to Pleasant Hill on No. 37 today.

Lon Drake, a negro storeroom laborer, residing at 129 West Johnson street, is ill at the Katy hospital, suffering from a tumor.

A vacancy for brakeman on the Sedalia-Nevada local, with Sunday lay over here, was advertised by Superintendent Finney, of the Katy, today.

Owing to repairs being made on the West Third street car line, passengers are being transferred from one car to another near Osage street.

The Missouri Pacific is arranging to place a telegraph operator at the local yard office, who will handle both the bill clerk's place and fill the operator's desk.

R. E. Francis, assistant engineer for the Missouri Pacific, who went to Cedar Rapids, Ia., to spend the Fourth of July with his parents, returned home last night.

J. P. Rodeman, traveling freight agent for the Missouri Pacific, went to Kansas City this morning, likewise Engineer T. J. Gallivan, who has been visiting his family here.

W. F. Hukill, railway mail clerk on the Katy's high line, will take a fifteen days' leave of absence, beginning tomorrow, and J. K. Joyce, of Fort Scott, Kan., will act in the former's place.

Missouri Pacific engine No. 807, which has been undergoing repairs in the local shops, was turned out yesterday, and is being broke in today between here and Tipton by Engineer Hobson and Conductor Brummerhoff.

Beggars "Held Up" Passengers On a New York "L" Train.

New York, July 9.—Several passengers on a Third avenue "L" train reported to the police yesterday that a gang of "pan-handlers" had just set upon them and forced them to give money.

The beggars got on at the Grand Central, went through the cars and threatened with heavy clubs all who refused to give.

The guards on the train were powerless and declared detectives should be placed on the trains on Sunday nights.

WITHOUT A GUARD

The Prisoner Went to Church and Returned to His Cell.

Carmi, Ill., July 9.—Tiring of his confinement in the city calaboose, Charles Carroll, a vagrant, Sunday night requested permission to go to church.

The unique request was granted, and he worshiped at the Methodist church.

When the services were over he returned unattended to his cell.

BOY SO SLIM

That, Though a Train Passed Over Him, He Still Lives.

Stuebenville, Ohio, July 9.—Chas. Bickerstaff, aged 16, was struck by a west-bound Pan-handle passenger engine at a grade crossing yesterday.

He was knocked from the platform lengthwise and the entire train passed over him, his slim physique making this possible. His injuries are considered fatal.

BUREAU TO PROSECUTE

INSISTS ON HAVING REPORTS FROM MANUFACTURERS OF THE STATE.

A PENALTY OF $200 FOR FAILURE

Bureau Announces Record Breaking Year for 1906—Will Advise Missouri All Over the World.

The state labor bureau is after manufacturers of Missouri who have failed to make a report to this department for the year 1906, with the intention of enforcing the law, which has a penalty of $200 for failure to forward the data asked for, says the Jefferson City Democrat.

The labor bureau depends for its statistics of the state on the individual manufacturers, compiling and totaling the output figures, and when all are in, issuing bulletins which are to advertise the resources of Missouri.

The labor bureau up to the present time has been very lenient with manufacturers, giving them three months beyond the limit which the law allows in which to report, but from now on it will vigorously prosecute all who have not lived up to that statute. Each county prosecuting attorney has received a list of delinquent manufacturers in his jurisdiction accompanied by the request that criminal proceedings be at once instituted and the full penalty of the law imposed.

The state labor bureau announces that the year 1906 has already broken the record as to the number of establishments reporting, regardless of the fact that over 1,500 are still to be heard from. When all returns are in there will be on file at the Jefferson City office reports from 12,000 manufacturing and repairing plants for Missouri.

The indications are that the total manufacturing for 1906 will reach $525,000,000, which will place Missouri in the sixth or seventh rank as a manufacturing state, a gain of four points.

The delinquents as a rule are the smaller establishments, the owners of which have failed to realize that the law applies to them as much as to the larger ones. It is absolutely necessary to have all in, as, while the business of one in a year may amount to only $1,500, when a thousand fail to report the shortage is $1,500,000, enough to lower the rank of the state one or two points when compared with other manufacturing commonwealths.

At the recent session of the legislature the law governing the labor bureau was changed by inserting in the section which compels manufacturers to report, the phrase, "and other employers of labor," which now brings into the ranks of establishments which have to report those who formerly dodged it by taking advantage of the failure of the law to include every blacksmith, harness, tin and machine shop which manufacture as well as repair goods.

The new law also contains a public utility clause which compels electric light and gas plants, telephone companies, railroads, electric lines and water supplying corporations to report to the labor bureau when called upon to do so by the commissioner.

The 1907 report will surpass any ever issued by this department. It will be full of information concerning the resources of Missouri and it will be scattered far and wide in advertising the state. A pamphlet containing the surplus products of Missouri for 1906 and similar information is now in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution July 15. Over 50,000 will be forwarded to the Jamestown exposition to be used there for advertising purposes by the Missouri commission.

French Don't Like the Idea.

Paris, July 9.—The French government greatly deprecates the alarmist view of the Japanese-American situation taken by a section of the Paris press and has inspired a newspaper statement which places a most optimistic construction upon the plan to dispatch an American fleet to the Pacific waters.

517 NEW MEMBERS

The A. O. U. W. Did Exceedingly Well in Past Three Months.

The ninety-day campaign, inaugurated April 1st by the A. O. U. W. to secure new members, closed July 1st. The records show that 517 new members were secured.

The board of officers, at their meeting on Saturday, June 22, decided by unanimous vote, says the Overseer, official organ of the order, to extend the same cash premiums to members for an indefinite period as prevailed during the ninety-day campaign; that is, each member securing an applicant who is duly initiated and pays three months' assessments will receive $2; also, each member securing a reinstatement of a former member, who has been in suspension six months and over, will receive $1, under the same conditions.

The examination of these applicants for reinstatement will be paid for by the grand lodge. This is certainly a very generous offer to the membership, and it should appeal to their sense of honor as to their duty to this society along the line of extension work.

FOWL SINGED BY LIGHTNING

Women Who Were on the Job Got Scared in Connecticut.

Winsted, Conn., July 9.—Mrs. Louis Michael and Mrs. Hallock were singing a chicken at Plymouth, when a sharp electrical storm came up. The frightened women shut themselves in a clothes closet. Scarcely had they done so when a shaft of lightning entered the house and completely singed the fowl.

A hailstorm followed and the rattle of the hail sounded to the terrified women like the crack of flames. The women debated whether or not to leave the closet. Mrs. Michael argued that they would surely be struck by lightning if they opened the door, but if the house was burning they would get out somehow. So they stayed in the closet until the storm passed. Luckily the lightning only tore off plaster and singed the kitchen wall.

Had a Narrow Escape.

Misses Addie Sheets and Myrtle Hall, while out driving last evening, had a narrow escape from injury by reason of their buggy coming in collision with one of the Babcock Lumber Co. wagons, owing, it is claimed by the ladies, to the carelessness of the Babcock driver. The spokes of one wheel of the buggy were broken, but bystanders prevented the horse running away.

TURN IN THEIR PASSES

CIRCULAR REGARDING THE ANTI-PASS LAW ISSUED BY THE M. & T.

A LIST OF THE PERSONS EXEMPT

Statute Is Effective July 11 and Will Affect a Large Number of People—Mr. A. A. Allen Explains the Law.

A. A. Allen, vice president and general manager of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway, has issued the following self-explanatory letter:

The anti-pass law of the state of Texas, effective July 11, 1907, prohibits the issuance of passes to any person or persons except the following:

The actual bona fide employees of any railway, sleeping car or chartered transportation company and dependent members of their immediate families. The term employee shall be construed to embrace the following persons only: All persons actually employed and engaged in the service of any such company, including its officers, bona fide ticket, passenger and freight agents, physicians, surgeons and general attorneys, and attorneys who appear in courts of record to try cases and who receive a reasonable annual salary.

Ex-employees within four (4) months after leaving the service of any such companies and while seeking employment.

Persons actually employed on sleeping cars and express cars.

Linemen of telegraph and telephone companies.

Newsboys employed on trains.

Railway mail service employees.

Post office inspectors.

Chairmen and bona fide members of grievance committees of employees.

Bona fide custom and immigration inspectors employed by the government.

State health officer and one assistant.

Federal health officers.

State rangers.

Sheriffs or other bona fide elective peace officers whose duties are to execute criminal process, provided that if any such railroad or transportation company shall grant to any sheriff a free pass over its line of railroad, then it shall issue like free transportation to each and every sheriff in this state who make to it written application therefor; and provided further, that said sheriffs and other peace officers mentioned above using such free passes or transportation shall deduct the money value of the same at the legal rate per mile from any mileage accounts against the state and the litigants earned by them in executing process when such pass was used or could have been used.

Members of the live stock sanitary commission of Texas, not exceeding twelve (12) in number for any one year.

Trip passes as follows:

Necessary care takers of live stock, poultry, fruit, melons or other perishable produce while en route and return.

The indigent poor when application therefor is made by any religious or charitable organization.

Sisters of charity.

Persons injured in wrecks upon the road of any such company, immediately after such injury, and the physicians and nurses attending such persons at the time thereof.

Persons and property carried in cases of general epidemic, pestilence, or other calamitous visitations, at any time thereof or immediately thereafter.

No person who holds any public office in this state shall at any time during their term of office be entitled to any such free pass or transportation privilege or franks, or substitute for fare or charges over any railway or other company mentioned in section one (1) of this act, except employees operating trains when in actual discharge of their duties as such and the (public) officers hereinbefore exempted.

KATY MAN SAVED TRAIN

ENGINEER FELTON FELT THE JAR OF WHEELS THAT HAD LEFT THE TRACK.

QUICKLY PULLED THE AIR CORD

Missouri Pacific Train 104 Was Immediately Stopped, and Passengers Crowded Around to Express Thanks.

Dave Felton, engineer on the M. & T., saved a Missouri Pacific train running into Kansas City Sunday afternoon by an act of cool nerve and knowledge of the workings of railway train appliances.

When he felt the jar of the wheels on the ties and saw the dust rising from the car floor, he knew that the wheels had left the rails, and he immediately reached up, pulled the air brake cord, and the train was brought to a standstill.

He called to people who were scrambling out of the windows to come back again, for there was no danger. Then he was surrounded by the entire passenger list, every member of which expressed their thanks and asked for his name and address.

Through the general offices of the M. & T., says the Parsons San, a request was made last week upon the Missouri Pacific for transportation from Kansas City to Omaha for Mr. Felton and his wife. It was granted and Mr. and Mrs. Felton went to that city to attend the funeral of her father. Then they started home.

The act of the Missouri Pacific in granting $23 worth of transportation saved that company many thousands of dollars in damages and claims. Mr. Felton saved $23 and he saved for that railway company many hundred times that amount.

Train 104 left Omaha at 9 a. m. As it was nearing Kansas City, Kas., a short time before 5 o'clock in the afternoon the accident happened. The train was running at a good rate of speed, when the rear trucks of the first chair car left the track. Immediately following them were the first trucks of the second chair car, which went off the track altogether. The car was bouncing up and down upon the ties, and the two cars were buckling sideways and tottering for a fall.

Then was when Mr. Felton used his presence of mind. Reaching for the air brake cord, he pulled it, and the cars stopped almost at once. They were still right side up.

The passengers had been greatly frightened by the bumping of the car, and several of them were climbing out of the windows. Others were scared stiff. Calling to the passengers, Mr. Felton told them to sit still, for the accident amounted to nothing.

The train stopped, measures were taken to repair the loss and get the passengers to the station. The people in the coach, who had seen the act of saving the train, crowded around Mr. Felton and thanked him and nearly every one took his name and address. The passengers in other coaches heard of the act and did likewise.

C. A. Forbes, 216 Shiedley building, Kansas City, an employee of the Missouri Pacific, was on the coach and saw the pulling of the cord. He reported the occurrence to the officials of that railway company. Those gentlemen are probably congratulating themselves upon having a man in the coach who was an old railroader and knew enough about railroad train appliances to be able to do the right thing at the right time.

Mr. and Mrs. Felton arrived in Parsons on No. 21 this morning. "There was nothing heroic in the act," said Mr. Felton. "I simply saw what was the matter and knew that the train could be stopped in that way. Of course I did the only thing that could be done in such a case."

GAMBLING BOAT HARD HIT

Revoked the City of Traverse's Passenger License.

Washington, July 9.—By the revocation of the passenger certificate of the steamboat City of Traverse, the government dealt a heavy blow yesterday to the gambling syndicate of the city of Chicago.

The City of Traverse leaves Chicago each day and anchors in Lake Michigan near the lines of intersection of the states of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan and conducts there gambling operations.

Information concerning the results of the various race tracks of the country are received by wireless telegraphy and the steamboat is operated as a floating pool room.

The authorities of Chicago have endeavored to suppress the evil, but their efforts have been futile.

Finally Mayor Busse appealed to the government authorities to take steps which would put an end to the operations of the steamer. The action taken yesterday followed.

A Cigar Wrapper Often Covers a Multitude of Sins

You know quite well that there are many cigars sold for five cents that are very poor quality. They are sold on appearance. A fine appearing wrapper, a handsome gold band or a pretty box-lid may cover a multitude of sins, but it is the filler, the inside of a cigar, that determines its smoking quality.

Modern manufacture exemplified in the American Cigar Company's products has grown way above this unfortunate method of doing business and assures a cigar that is honest all through.

The "Triangle A" merit mark on a box of cigars means that every sprig of leaf in every cigar in the box was graded especially by experts for that one brand, two years before it was made; that during this time the leaf has mellowed in great, clean warehouses in a perfect temperature till all its finest qualities are brought to a point of perfection.

These are some of the reasons why "Triangle A" cigars smoke with the fine mellow flavor that you thought was only to be found in expensive brands; why every "Triangle A" cigar has an even flavor and aroma from end to end; why every cigar of each "Triangle A" brand smokes just the same.

"Triangle A" cigars cost you no more than the "mixed" cigars—though they are worth twice as much.

Look for the "△" (Triangle A) when you buy cigars.

"Triangle A" brands offer the widest obtainable range of choice, and absolutely dependable quality in whatever brand suits your taste. You'll never find a better brand to make the test with than

The New CREMO

Every box is now extra-wrapped in glassine paper, sealed at each end with the "Triangle A" in red. The cigars are kept clean, fresh and in perfect smoking condition until the box is opened.

A GIRL DIVER'S LABORS

ONE ON THE GREAT LAKES WHO HAS MADE A FORTUNE UNDER WATER.

IS PROTEGE OF THE LAKE SEAMEN

Her First Descent Was in Lake Huron, Where a Wooden Barge Had Gone Down—Diamond Ring Was Discovered.

W. C. B.: To decide a bet, will you please state whether or not there are any women divers who do actual work or not? B claims that women have gone down under the water for the novelty, while C claims there are professional women divers.—Denver Post.

Answer—Strange as it may seem, it is indeed true that there is one woman at least who has won fame and fortune in this unusual manner. Her name is Miss Francis Baker, of Detroit, Mich.

She is but 21 years of age, and has accumulated an immense fortune. Her first great work was when she raised $20,000 from the treasure ship W. H. Stevens, which sank in 80 feet of water in Lake Erie several years ago.

This courageous girl is known as the girl diver of the great lakes, and wherever she goes she is regarded as the protegee of the lake seamen.

Miss Baker's father, Captain H. W. Baker, was a captain of divers, and was widely known as "the man who never failed," and from the time when she was first able to go down to the river alone she used to watch her father's wrecking ship leave the dock and longed to go with him. The ambition to become a diver matured in her as she grew older, and she deplored the fate which had condemned her to be a girl.

At last her desire to become a diver overcame the objections of her friends, and she began making wrecking trips with her father, and soon became his inseparable companion. She made a study of every part of the machinery connected in any way with diving, and in time learned to command the wrecking boat with great skill and assurance.

Her first descent was in Lake Huron, where a big wooden barge had gone down, and before the wrecking steamer had reached the spot where the barge had sunk the owner spoke to Miss Baker, regretting the loss of a diamond ring which was in the cabin. Miss Baker immediately offered to recover it for him, as she had been planning for some time to make her first descent upon the first favorable opportunity. When everything was made ready for her to descend her own father manned the compressed air apparatus, which meant life or death to her, as she calmly walked down the ship's ladder and without a moment's hesitation disappeared under the water.

It seemed to the girl at first as though some great creature with a thousand arms was pressing her gently but firmly on all sides, and in a few minutes her breath would be cut off entirely, but she was far from frightened and continued her descent until the shadow of the sunken barge loomed up before her. She had a strange feeling of buoyancy, and the 20 pounds of lead attached to her feet seemed no heavier than leather soles as she followed her companion to the walls of the sunken ship and with his aid climbed over them. At this point she experienced severe pains in her head and felt as if her nose were going to bleed, but, still undaunted, she reached the cabin of the barge, where she entered and with the aid of the electric light at her belt she sought the corner of the cabin, which contained a small stand, upon which was the tiny box containing the much desired diamond ring.

In her haste to reach it the girl stumbled and fell and for the moment was consumed by a terrible fear, as the pressure of the water, together with breathing the compressed air, had now become almost overpowering, but she quickly gained her self-control and with the box in her hand returned to the deck of the wrecker.

As a reward for this daring exploit Miss Baker was presented with the diamond ring she had recovered and it is now in her possession.

The ring marked the beginning of her fortune, as she had proved that she could live under water, and to be able to do this means that a person is worth anywhere from $50 to $200 a day to a wrecking company. As 99 out of every 100 men who descend into the cold water of the lakes will in a few minutes begin to suffer from bleeding at the nose, head-splitting pains and suffocation, that is why all good divers from one end of the Great Lakes to the other may be counted on one's fingers and toes.

Miss Baker now began following up her adventure with practical work and she early discovered the fact that she was fitted for a captain of divers instead of a diver alone, as the locating of the lost copper ship which had been searched for for years has proved.

She still continues in her harrowing adventures, accomplishing feats which would stagger some of the bravest men. Her physical endurance is said to be wonderful and beyond that of most men.

Precautions Against Electric Fires.
If your dwelling is electrically lighted, never place wood, clothes or other inflammable material against the wires, meters or switches; never use an electric wire as a clothesline, and see to it that your dwelling is kept free from rats, as these pests often gnaw the insulation from the wires. The amount of loss from "electric fires" in the United States in one year, according to the Saturday Evening Post, is $15,000,000.

ABOUT CIGARS.

The W. E. Bard Drug Co. Tell What Sedalia Smokers Most Enjoy.

"You would be surprised," said Mr. Bard of Sedalia, "to see the different selections of cigars made in our store in the course of a day, and hear each man's reason for his preference." Continuing, Mr. Bard said that the majority of Sedalia smokers now prefer a Wadsworth Bros.' Chico.

It is a finely flavored, clear Havana filled cigar made from tobacco thoroughly ripened under the rays of the southern sun. The tobacco used in the Chico is fully matured and seasoned and burns finely and perfectly, with a fine flavor and fragrance. Mr. Bard recommends a cigar with a dark wrapper, as this shows that the tobacco has been fully matured, but whichever color, light or dark, is selected in the Wadsworth Bros.' Chico, you will get a good perfect, satisfying smoke at 5 cents, a cigar equal to the ordinary ten and fifteen cent values.

KILLED WIFE AND HIMSELF

Tragedy Occurs After Reconciliation in Lebanon.

Buffalo, Mo., July 9.—A. A. Scribner, who shot his wife twice, from the effects of which she died in about half an hour, and then killed himself, Sunday morning, had been separated from his wife since Christmas.

Mrs. Scribner had been in Lebanon, Mo., for three months. He visited her there three or four times and tried to get her to return to him.

Last Friday he called on her at a small place where she was employed and secured her consent to return to Buffalo and again live with him. They left Lebanon for this place Saturday morning.

Sunday morning Scribner went into the room where his wife was, at the boarding house where they had stopped, and, drawing a revolver, fired two shots into her body and then turned the weapon upon himself.

One kidney remedy never fails. Sedalia people rely on it.

That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills.

Sedalia testimony proves it always reliable.
J. G. Riley, baker, of 114 East Fourth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "For about five years I have been recommending Doan's Kidney Pills and my testimony has been published occasionally. I got this remedy in 1901 from the Bard Drug company and the relief I found through using it was very noticeable. My occupation is hard on the back and it is only to be expected that I should suffer occasionally with backache. I have had it since then, but Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to stop an attack. I have had no kidney or bladder trouble since I used them the first time. I have no hesitation in again recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to those who suffer from lame or aching backs."

GENTLEMEN—I contracted in the army, about 42 years ago, a very bad case of eczema of the face. During all of which time I have tried every known remedy and a number of physicians. I had doctored until I had given up all hope of ever being cured. Your "Zemo" was recommended to me and I have been using the same a short time and am happy to say that its results have been marvelous. From the beginning from the start it gave me immediate relief, stopped the itching and burning and all symptoms of the disease disappeared. Judging from my case, I consider your remedy a specific for eczema worth its weight in gold. I heartily recommend its use by any and all who may be so unfortunate as to have this dreaded disease. I am, Respectfully yours,

THEY FORMED A FLY TRUST.

Canny Kids Worked the Bounty Proposition for All It Was Worth.

Once in Hartford the flies were so numerous for a time, and so troublesome, that Mrs. Clemens conceived the idea of paying George a bounty on all the flies he might kill. The children saw an opportunity here for the acquisition of sudden wealth. They supposed that their mother merely wanted to accumulate dead flies, for some aesthetic or scientific reason or other, and they judged that the more flies she could get the happier she would be; so they went into business with George on a commission. Straightway the dead flies began to arrive in such quantities that Mrs. Clemens was pleased beyond words with the success of her idea. Next, she was astonished that one house could furnish so many. She was paying an extravagantly high bounty, and it presently began to look as if by this addition to our expenses we were now probably living beyond our income.

After a few days there was peace and comfort; not a fly was discoverable in the house; there wasn't a straggler left. Still, to Mrs. Clemens' surprise, the dead flies continued to arrive by the plateful, and the bounty expense was as crushing as ever. Then she made inquiry, and found that our innocent little rascals had established a fly trust, and had hired all the children in the neighborhood to collect flies on a cheap and unburdensome commission.—Mark Twain's Autobiography in North American Review.

AMAZING LIFE JOURNEY.

Champion Long Distance Traveler an English Engine Driver.

Between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 miles is the amazing distance said to have been traveled by Mr. James Guest, the doyen of Great Northern express drivers, who has just retired after half a century of honorable service. If this estimate is at all accurate, Mr. Guest is probably entitled to rank as the champion long-distance traveler of the world, although he has had a formidable rival in Mr. Benjamin Jeans, who, during his 54 years' service as guard on the London & Birkenhead express, is credited with having traveled 4,000,000 miles, or more than the equivalent of 160 journeys round the equator.

Mr. John Higginbottom, a veteran engine driver on the Midland railway, completed 2,000,000 miles on the footplate a few years ago; and Mr. Robert Maybank, who served 50 years as engine driver on the London & South-western railway, and who was fireman on the train which brought the prince of Wales to London 44 years ago to meet his bride, Princess Alexandra of Denmark, was credited with a similar record.—Tit-Bits.

Obliteration of the Defoe's.

On April 25, 1731, there "died of a lethargy, at a lodging in Ropemaker's Alley, Moorfields," one Daniel Defoe, rebel, secret service agent, bankrupt, hoarse, and author of the immortal "Robinson Crusoe." The old manor house at Mitcham where the famous classic was written is doomed to destruction, and in a few years we shall have little save memory and our gratitude to remind us of the worthy Daniel. Of his family there is none now living. Less than five years ago Miss Mary Ann De Foe, his great-granddaughter, died and was buried in Abney Park cemetery. About 15 months before that the last descendant on the male side, James W. Defoe, had passed away—in the workhouse at Bishop's Stortford.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Hoarse, Not Deaf.

The man with a cold looked more irritated than the occasion warranted. "Good morning," he croaked to a neighboring commuter who dropped into the seat beside him.

"What's worrying you?" shouted his friend. "You look as if you were ready to bite nails."

"You would, too, if every fool you met beloveted at you," replied the man hoarsely. "See here old man, I don't want to be ugly, but will you kindly tell me why you yell at me just because I'm hoarse. It's no sign that I'm deaf just because my voice is foggy, yet every chump who's talked to me for two days has shouted at me. My eardrum is almost fractured from the noise."

Not Meant for Him.

"See here!" indignantly cried the transient guest, "there's a collar button in this beef stew." "O! that's a mistake, sir," said the bright waiter. "A mistake? Well, I should say—" "Yes, sir; we never give extras except to our regular customers."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Had His Boots.

"And you say the girl's father came looking for you the other night when you called?"

"Indeed he did."

"And you fled, I suppose, so his quest was bootless?"

"Well, I didn't fly soon enough, and his quest was positively not bootless."—Yonkers Statesman.

THE SPECTRAL GAMBLER

A MAN WAS GIVEN A CHANCE TO WIN A FORTUNE AT MONTE CARLO.

THE TEMPTATION WAS RESISTED

Suicide of a Polish Officer Who Had Gone Broke, and the Singular Dream of Fellow-Player That Followed.

It was in February, 1881, says a writer in the New York Sun. I was spending the winter season at San Remo and lived in a fine room on the second floor of the Hotel Europe. I used to visit Monte Carlo repeatedly and to play roulette and usually with the same result. I returned to San Remo with empty pockets.

One evening I came back from such an excursion and went to bed with fixed conclusion never again to try roulette.

Everything in my room was as usual. At the side of my bed stood a little table with a marble top and on this was a china candlestick. At the bottom of the candle and on the top of the candlestick was a round piece of glass through which the candle was stuck.

I noticed that it was in good shape and had no crack when I put the candle in.

I had a peculiar feeling when I was about to blow the light out. I smelled the smoke of gunpowder and had the idea as if somebody was in the room.

I looked everywhere and could not find anything suspicious or any trace of smoke, and laughing about my own foolishness I lay down to sleep. But although I was very tired I could not sleep, and half awake and half dreaming I saw the roulette table before me and players around it.

One individual, a man who looked like an army officer, attracted my attention. He was pale as a ghost and seemed to try hard to hide his nervousness. He continually turned the ends of his mustache and when he made his play and placed his money, and the croupier had taken it away he smiled grimly and finally having apparently lost his last five franc piece he rose and left the table.

Then I fell asleep. I dreamed that the man whom I had seen was in my room and looked at me sternly. I saw a little hole in his forehead and a drop of blood coming out of it.

Suddenly I woke up. I had heard the sound of falling glass. I made a light and found the glass piece which had been on the candlestick broken in two pieces on the marble plate of the little table. I wondered how this could have happened, as the candlestick was not thrown over by me while I was sleeping and the candle was still sticking in it.

On the next morning I met a friend, a German count, who had a nice villa in the outskirts of the city. I told him of my experience, and he found it very peculiar. Of course I did not tell him about my vision of the roulette table and about my dream.

In a joking kind of way he remarked: "Well, I think the Polish army officer who committed suicide in your room a fortnight ago is probably to blame for the broken glass. He went broke in Monte Carlo and probably wanted to break something in return."

I did not say anything further about the matter, but when I came to my room I investigated the little table carefully and lifted the marble plate. To my surprise I found eight numbers written on the bottom of it.

Should the dream, the breaking of the glass and the finding of the numbers have a connection? I copied the numbers and went to Monte Carlo to play them.

But I was ashamed of myself, and did not put a silver piece on the table.

The croupier called out "No. 16." That was the first number on my paper slip. I smiled; an accident, I thought. Then came No. 2, the second number on my slip. I was surprised and became so nervous that I could not move. The third number of my slip came and, in succession, the rest of the eight.

Now I was overcome by the thought of having missed a chance to win a fortune.

When I slept in my room the following night I saw the Polish officer

GIRL WONDER EXPOSED

Eulah Wilson, Who Died and Returned to Life, Under Arrest.

Wichita, Kas., July 9.—Eulah Wilson, 15 years old, whose marvelous tale of dying and returning to a healed body in the twinkling of an eye caused much comment here, is now in charge of the juvenile court of this county and may be placed in an industrial school.

She and Mrs. Julia Hill, an ex-Dowdette, had planned to tour Kansas and Oklahoma, using the girl's tale to draw crowds to religious gatherings. The girl's parents objected.

Mrs. Hill made affidavit that the girl's mother is insane. The county physician examined her and upon his report the probate court canceled the insanity proceedings and ordered the girl to go home and obey her parents.

The girl objected and the police and juvenile courts had to interfere. The officers found the girl barricaded in a house, beseeching God to destroy her parents so that she could make the tour.

Natural for Them.

COULD NOT POISON DOG

IT RELISHES DOSES OF PARIS GREEN, CARBOLIC ACID AND STRYCHNINE.

THE AUTOMOBILE-CHASING KIND

If Canine Was Worth a Continental Blank It Would Have Been Dead Long Before This Was Written.

Some people think that deadly poison will put a silent spell on anything from a second sized grasshopper to an overgrown elephant," said a commercial traveler to a party of friends in the lobby of a hotel in this city the other evening, "but I've got a dog that you can't kill with a whole chemical factory," says the Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Can't poison him?" wonderingly interjected one of the party. "What kind of a dog is he?" "Just one of the plain, every-day automobile-chasing kind," answered the commercial traveler. "He came to my house somewhere between 12 o'clock and breakfast one morning, and got so stuck on the place that he couldn't be chased away with either harsh words or a baseball bat. "I have no use for a poodle, and after thoroughly considering the question I decided to arrange matters so that he would slip a cog on the first dark night and not be able to find his personality when he came to look around for himself the next morning."

"Procuring a prescription from a doctor, I got half a peck of cyanide of potassium, which I offered to the koodle, together with a bunch of soft and soothing phrases. He took it without a kick; in fact, he ate it greedily, and, licking his chops, he entreatingly looked up as if he would thank me for a second helping."

"Cyanide of potassium usually acts with precipitous haste, but when I arose on the next morning I found that the dog was still in my back yard instead of dreamland."

"Not to be defeated in my efforts to give the dog a needed change of climate, I bought a large package of strychnine, which I added to his bill of fare. This he also ate with a relish and seemed to wonder at my generosity, but it didn't jar him any more than you can shake a train hog from one of the choice seats."

"I had heard that carbolic acid cuts considerable ice in shortening dog days, so I gave him some of that, but he evidently thought it was tobacco sauce, and bawling the tears that came into his eyes, he was not seriously disturbed."

"Dismayed but not discouraged, I next got enough Paris green to save the potato crop in ten states, and permitted Towser to eat as much of it as he pleased. At the end of a week he had gained two pounds and had a tighter grip on the home of the free and land of the brave than any other pup in the ward."

"During the fortnight that followed I gave him rat poison, headache powders, and every other blooming concoction that I could find in the pharmacopoeia, but there was nothing doing in the post mortem line, and I had to admit that the koodle had all the trump cards."

"While deliberating over the possibilities afforded by the third rail or shot gun, I suddenly realized that the dog was one in a million, and determined to keep him for a bench winner. I—"

"Say, old pal," interrupted another of the party, with a doubtful glance at the speaker, "will you be good enough to tell us why that dog was impervious to poison?"

"Certainly," was the smiling response of the commercial traveler. "I afterwards learned that he was one of the canines on which the health commission made adulterated food tests. And a dog that can go against a game like that and stay the limit needn't have any fear of knock-out drops."

TRADE UNIONISM VIEW

MORTUARY FEATURE THAT HAS BEEN A GREAT BUSINESS SUCCESS.

UNION PRINTERS ORGANIZATION

Mr. James M. Lynch, the International President, Gives Some Interesting Information On a Timely Subject.

In an interview appearing in an eastern paper recently, James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, gave some interesting information as to the mortuary feature of the organization.

It seems to be almost an instinct with man to provide for his burial after death. Men have been known—those in poverty—to laboriously collect and cling to a small sum for burial purposes, depriving themselves of the necessities of life in order to retain this money, because of the horror of "filling a pauper's grave."

Many associates provide for the interment of their members by a burial fund, and especially is this true of trade unions—perhaps all or nearly all of them.

It was to be expected that, as intelligent workmen, the printers would be found in the lead in such a movement. While the greater number of their local associations have burial funds of their own, from which to provide for decent interment of their members, the International Typographical Union sends out from its home office in the Newton Claypool building, Indianapolis, Ind., to the officers of each subordinate union $70 for each death of a member in good standing reported to it. While this is but a moderate amount with which to pay the expenses of a funeral, yet, added to that provided by the local union, it makes a very acceptable sum—in some cities as much as $500—which may be regarded as a life insurance as well as a burial fund.

The disbursements in this way of this one parent union from May 1, 1892, to May 1, 1907, amounted to $443,105, and in the year 1907 to $39,270. By this burial fund—not as an act of charity, for each member pays his share—and there is enough left at least to enable his dependants to live until plans can be made for the future.

The death rate in the International Typographical Union for the year ending May 1, 1906, was 1.14 per cent of the average membership, or a little more than 11 per 1,000. The average death rate since the establishment of the burial fund has been 1.21 per cent—about 12 per 1,000.

The death benefit features of trade unions perhaps does not cut much of a figure in the statistics of economics, but investigation will develop that very considerable sums are devoted to this purpose, and it is also greatly to the credit of the printers that it is very rarely that a member of their society or his family becomes a charge on the public, living or dead.

I will mail you free, to prove merit, samples of my Dr. Shoop's Restorative and my book on either dyspepsia, the heart or the kidneys. Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves—the inside nerves—mean stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, have their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

Assimilation. "Your country has wonderful powers of assimilation, truly." "Wonderful! Nothing like it. Take the rawest foreigners that come here and I warrant you they will have indigestion or a good start toward it in the second generation, and in the third will be living as far beyond their means as many to the manor born. Yes, sir, whatever the material, we work it up."

MAY SAVE BARRINGTON

A FLOOD OF PETITIONS POURING IN UPON GOV. FOLK AT PRESENT.

THE PARDON ATTORNEY IS SEEN

Chief Executive Will Investigate Stories Said to Prove the Condemned Englishman's Innocence.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 9.—Pardon Attorney Speed Mosby received a batch of letters and petitions addressed to Governor Folk asking that F. Seymour Barrington's sentence be commuted to life imprisonment. Among those who signed the petition are Frank Wyman, postmaster of St. Louis; Western Bascome, British vice consul at St. Louis; the Rev. Harmon C. St. Clair, rector of Trinity church, Channing avenue, St. Louis.

Among the letters requesting a commutation on the ground of doubt of Barrington's guilt, are one from Marcus B. Bernheimer, former City Register P. R. Fitzgibbon, Doctor Garrett B. Jones, of No. 2633 Gravois avenue; Attorneys Charles T. Nolan and John A. Harrison, both of St. Louis; Judge Thomas Ackerman, of St. Louis county, and J. B. Green, of Little Rock, Ark.

The following letter is from Episcopal Bishop Daniel S. Tuttle, of St. Louis, and bears date of June 27:

"I have this day signed the petition to you for the granting of the commutation of the death sentence against F. Seymour Barrington to one of imprisonment for life. I have so signed because I have not been able to free my mind from the conviction that the refusal of change of venue at the time of the trial of said Barrington subjected him to unfairness because of the public clamor that prevailed in and around St. Louis. I have asked that those presenting the petition to your excellency will also kindly hand you this letter."

A lengthy affidavit is attached to the papers, signed by Mary Howard, of No. 430 Clark street, Cincinnati, O., in which she testifies she knew James H. McCann, for whose death Barrington was convicted, for twenty years.

She says that when McCann was drinking he was in the habit of giving his watch and jewelry to someone to keep for him, and she expresses the belief that he is still living.

C. Burton, of Bonner Springs, Kas., has written two letters to the governor giving his reasons for believing in Barrington's innocence. In one of them he says "I think his wife found him crazy, as well as not a lord, and that he is crazy yet."

A handsome young woman, accompanied by a girl of 6 years old, both dressed in black, called upon Pardon Attorney Speed Mosby last night and asked him to make arrangements through which she could have an interview with Governor Folk, in the hope of convincing the chief executive of the innocence of Barrington.

The woman gave her name as Mrs. Gates and said that she was exceedingly anxious to avoid notoriety. She said she was an English woman and had known Barrington in England; that his father was a colonel in the British army and his mother, Lady Mary Elizabeth Barrington, whom she believed is now residing in India.

She said Barrington's moves could be accounted for during the last twenty years, and that if the governor would grant time she would secure affidavits to convince him of Barrington's innocence.

Mrs. Gates did not register at a hotel. When asked by Mr. Mosby where he could communicate with her, she told him, through the British vice consul in St. Louis, Western B. Bascome.

Governor Folk has instructed Mr. Mosby to thoroughly investigate the woman's story. To this end the pardon attorney has written to Mr. Bascome to supply what information he can.

Mrs. Lillian Gates, of 4130 West Belle avenue, was not at her home last night. It was stated that she was in Jefferson City and when she would return was not certain.

Mrs. Gates has for many months interested herself in the case of Barrington. She visits him in his cell in the Clayton jail every week and on her last visit said she had secured sufficient evidence to submit it to Governor Folk in order to gain a stay of execution, if not commutation of sentence.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS.

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white flakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair. Sold by leading druggists. S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

Chronic Ulcers are the result of a deeply polluted and foul blood supply. The blood is filled with impurities and germs which are being constantly fed into the place through the circulation, until all the surrounding flesh becomes diseased and the sore an obstinate and permanent trouble. Every symptom of an old ulcer suggests pollution; the discharge, the red, angry looking flesh, the inflammation and discoloration of surrounding parts, all show that the ulcer is prevented from healing by the constant drainage through it of impurities from the blood. This impure condition of the blood may be hereditary, or it may be the remains of some constitutional disease, or the effects of a long spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system, or the absorption of the refuse of the body which has not been properly expelled through the natural channels. But whatever the cause, the blood is so weakened and polluted that it does not properly nourish and stimulate the place, and the sore cannot heal. Salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the sore or ulcer clean, relieve pain, and perhaps reduce inflammation, but can never permanently heal them because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very fountain-head of the trouble, drives out all poisons and germs, builds up the weak, sluggish blood, gives energy and strength to the system, and by sending a fresh, healthy stream of blood to the diseased parts, allows the ulcer to heal naturally and permanently. Nothing reaches inherited taints like S. S. S. It cleanses the circulation of every trace of hereditary disease or impurity, and those who have nursed and treated an old sore for years will experience good results as soon as the system becomes influenced by S. S. S. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free to all who write.

THE "M. S. U." LIBRARY

Special Collection of Books on Various Subjects Needed.

The library of the University of Missouri receives regularly 662 periodicals, of which 281 are given or are received in exchange. When the volumes accessioned and unaccessioned and the pamphlets which will take their places as volumes on the shelves have been counted the total number of volumes belonging to the library will reach about 100,000.

One of the great needs of the library is special collections of books on various subjects. The income of the library is not sufficient to purchase such collections. Here is an excellent opportunity for men who have at heart the interests of education, especially at the University of Missouri, to invest a few dollars for the encouragement of research work.

Last year the Harvard library received in money for the purchase of special classes of books over $3,000 in addition to funds which are being paid in annual installments. Some of the gifts were as small as $25. The donor designated the class of books which he wished to have purchased. The library is in need of a fund for the purchase of scientific works, for works of art, for books on economics and political science, for books on American history, etc.

This collection of books was made possible through the generous gift of $1,000 of the Hon. Gardiner Lathrop, president of the board of curators. Two installments of $250 each have already been received, the first on May 14, 1906, the second on April 12, 1907. There has been expended on this fund to date $392.54, and the total number of volumes purchased is 467. The collection is shelved in the office of Prof. Allen and consists of works in English and American literature.

The number of students registered for borrowing books for home use has considerably increased. We now have 940 borrowers. Last year there were 843. The number of borrowers among the officers of instruction is 141. The statistics for the actual number of volumes drawn for home use are not available, but from the data at hand it is safe to say that 17,569 volumes were borrowed during the year for home use.

POTATO ROWS FOR WIDOW

Pennsylvanian Makes Very Strange Provision for Wife.

Allentown, Pa., July 9.—Daniel Fenstermacher, a rich farmer of Lynn township, Lehigh county, left a will in which he disposed of his valuable estate in a strange manner, virtually cutting off his wife Maria.

He bequeaths to his wife the old homestead and household effects, but in lieu of the land that is part of the farm directs that his wife "shall have the privilege of planting each year until her death a row of sweet potatoes and two rows of Irish potatoes." She is also to have "the use of the water in the well and the gates leading from the yard connected with the house to the public road and enough fruit for her use." After her death the property devised to the widow is to be sold and the proceeds divided among the children, to each of whom a farm is also bequeathed.

Prizes for Tanned Faces.

With the object of encouraging the pupils of the Farnham grammar school to spend their recent holiday in the open air as much as possible, the Rev. S. Priestley, the head-master, offered a prize to the boy who returned to school with the brownest face. On the pupils reassembling for the summer term 12 were picked out as being the most tanned, and it was announced that the judges had awarded the prize to Foster, the captain of the school. It is understood that Foster declines to divulge to the other boys the secret of his preparation, if any.—London Globe.

LONG LEGS

Of Fairbanks Brought Him Quickly to Drowning Girl.

Yellowstone Lake, Y. P., Wyo., July 9.—Vice President Fairbanks, who is visiting Yellowstone Park, en route to Seattle, helped to save Miss Lena Wallace, of Seattle, from drowning in Yellowstone lake. The girl fell in the water while trying to get out of a canoe. Fairbanks saw her plight from the hotel veranda, and running to the lake, assisted in the rescue and worked with the girl until she recovered an hour later. Miss Wallace is a hotel waitress.

Nick Longworth and his wife are spending a week in the park. They left here on cavalry horses for Mammoth Hot Springs. They will leave the park next week.
